LUNCH LADIES AT SBIFF

POSTED ON FEB 7 BY SEASONS MAGAZINE

The comedy horror short LUNCH LADIES screens at Santa Barbara International Festival on February 8 at 5:40 p.m. and February 9 at 2:40 p.m.

LUNCH LADIES is about two burnt out high school Lunch Ladies who do whatever it bloody takes on their quest to become Johnny Depp's Personal Chefs.

For the past 20 years, obsessed Johnny Depp fans and fraternal twin sisters, Seretta and LouAnne Burr, have shared a miserable existence as high school Lunch Ladies serving up rubbery chicken parts, ammonia-treated government meat and whatever else the cash-strapped national lunch program sends their way.

This year is going to be different: The twin's Cheesy Burger Bites recipe is the Grand Prize Winner of Johnny Depp's Cook for Kid's Charity Event!

Convinced this is their ticket out of high school hell town and that "The Depper" will hire them to be his very own Personal Chefs, their dreams are shattered after a snotty head cheerleader pushes them one step too far.

WWJD? What would Johnny do?

Writer/Producers Clarissa Jacobson says, "we are gonna be the most fun you have and remember... don't forget to wear your Lunch Lady hairnet to the fest!"
